

GREG FELDMAN

Director of Business Development

Greg joined Marshall & Stevens in 2010 and has been an integral part of the growth of the valuation practice in the Southeast. During his 30-year career, he has driven results in various successful business development and operational roles within a diverse group of industries. He was successful in helping a Big 4 Accounting firm grow revenues and maximize client satisfaction within several practices including tax, audit and assurance, and advisory services. Greg has spent many years working on large, challenging engagements and is adept at project management with complex implementations. Additionally, he has ample experience understanding client needs and helping achieve a mutual set of goals.

